

Automobile Technology Lab:

Automobile technology laboratory contains different assembled systems of automobiles such as clutch box, gear box, differential, braking systems, axial systems and multi cylinder diesel engine. It provides practical knowledge on various components of automobiles. In this lab, students study and do experiments on dismantling and assembling of different types of engines, gearbox and differential etc.

Automobile Technology Lab